

ALL INCLUSIVE

Opening: September 19, 7-9pm

Exhibition: September 19 to 29

Everyone is invited to participate! The "All Inclusive" show celebrates those who know the city best—the art makers who live there.

Responding to community interest, OPC is excited to launch a new annual exhibition that solely focuses on new work by local artists. We want everyone that participates in a creative practice in Vallarta to be included in the exhibition. Each year OPC will invite a different curator or artist to serve as the project coordinator and we are honored that David Allen Burns and Austin Young of Fallen Fruit will serve as this year's curators.

"We are interested in the idea of the public, citizenship, community, and how everyday people are poets and scribes and artists and documentarians as much as they are strangers, neighbors, and friends," say the artists of Fallen Fruit.

The exhibition will focus on art related to Puerto Vallarta: it's history, urban issues problems and solutions; nevertheless, every piece will be received and exhibited, no matter the theme and discourse, as long as it fits the following characteristics:

- a) The theme and technique of every work is entirely open.
- b) Be a two-dimensional artwork.
- c) Format should be horizontal tabloid size (30.5 cm high x 45.7 cm width)
- d) Technical details must be included: Artist name, title, date, and medium

Participate by delivering your work to OPC by September 15th from 11am to 2pm. OPC is located at Juarez 598 at the corner of Aldama in Centro.
